

PAIU Night at the Races

The Night at the Races event will be held at the PAIU conference to benefit the Fred Rogers Center's Simple Interactions Program. Participants will have the opportunity to bet on ten video horse races throughout the night and accrue winnings in the form of race money that can then be used to purchase tickets for chances to win auction baskets. Auction baskets from each Intermediate Unit will be awarded at the conclusion of the event.

The Night at the Races will begin immediately after dinner in the Grand Ballroom at the Seven Springs Resort and Conference Center.

All proceeds from the event benefit the Fred Rogers Center Simple Interactions Program.

According to Simple Interactions, "Fred Rogers believed that human relationships are essential to children's development at any age. On television, Fred modeled the kind of relationships that fostered trust, provided support, and inspired respect. Fred's message to parents and professionals alike is that they are already capable of building and sustaining a beautiful relationship with the children in their care." The Simple Interactions program "engages children's caregivers through strengths-based, practice-focused, and community-supported learning sessions." More information can be found at
